Aarabhi Chari has a corporate commercial law practice. She regularly advises clients in the areas of real estate law, finance, acquisitions, including asset and share purchase and sale transactions, corporate finance, and complex contractual matters.

Aarabhi acts for developers, brokers, purchasers, vendors, property owners, tenants, lenders, and borrowers with respect to development, purchases, sales, leasing, lending and borrowing, including clients such as solar and wind power developers, institutional banks, credit unions and pension funds, the developers and operators in the hospitality sector and cannabis retail facilities.

Aarabhi is involved in reviewing, drafting, negotiating, enforcing, and providing advice with respect to real estate and finance related matters and documents.

Prior to joining Bennett Jones Aarabhi practiced at a national law firm in Calgary.
