Corey Yermus is engaged in a broad corporate commercial and securities practice.

Corey's experience involves a wide variety of transactional work including mergers and acquisitions (both in the Canadian and cross-border context), debt and equity financings (both domestic and international), public and private securities offerings, take-over bids, initial public offerings and other business combinations. As well, Corey advises clients on a diverse range of unique corporate governance, securities and compliance matters.

With transactional experience in industries including agribusiness and life sciences, technology, regulated industries like consumer products, media & telecom and financial services, Corey assists clients in achieving their goals while safeguarding their interests in the complex transactional landscape. A select scope of his clients include public and private issuers (large, mid-cap as well as emerging), and foreign acquirers of Canadian public entities.

Corey participates in the firm's mentoring program.
